DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1 – 16 and 33 in the reply filed on October 14, 2005 is acknowledged. Upon further review of the claims the Examiner has decided that it is not necessarily the weave structure, but instead the type of warp and weft yarns used to make the fabrics which produce the distinct species. Thus, the previous restriction requirement is withdrawn and a new restriction is set forth below.

2. With regards to the applicant's arguments about the claimed invention being drawn to a single invention which would be encompassed by the same search, it is noted that to the fact that multiple species could possibly be found in similar search areas, is not sufficient to traverse a species election. As set forth in the restriction requirement, the applicant must provide some showing that the species are not patentably distinct and instead are obvious variants of each other. However, the applicant's arguments in fact refused to set forth on the record that the species are obvious variants of each other and not patentably distinct species.

Election/Restrictions

3. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: a woven fabric comprising at least one filling yarn comprises a synthetic filament yarn (claims 1 – 12, 14 – 16, and 33) and a woven fabric comprising at least one warp yarn comprises a synthetic filament yarn (claims 17 – 28, 30 – 32, and 34); and a woven fabric comprising at least one filling yarn comprising a synthetic filament yarn and at least one warp yarn comprising a synthetic filament yarn (claims 13 and 29).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

4. Should the applicant choose the group of claims where at least one of the filling yarns is a filament yarn; the applicant must make the following species election.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: a woven fabric comprising at least one filling yarn including a synthetic filament yarn and at least one filling yarn including a spun yarn (claims 5 – 8); and a woven fabric comprising at least one filling yarn including a synthetic filament yarn and at least one warp yarn including a spun yarn (claims 9 – 12).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1 – 4, 14 – 16, and 33 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

6. Should the applicant choose the group of claims where at least one of the warp yarns is a filament yarn; the applicant must make the following species election.

7. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: a woven fabric comprising at least one warp yarn including a synthetic filament yarn and at least one warp yarn including a spun yarn (claims 21 – 24); and a woven fabric comprising at least one warp yarn including a synthetic filament yarn and at least one filling yarn including a spun yarn (claims 25 – 28).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 17 – 20, 30 – 32, and 34 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
